HPS Loadbanks Expands National Sales and Service Team
New San Diego Sales and Advanced Load Bank Project Managers

San Diego, CA – HPS Loadbanks, the leading authorized distributor of Crestchic load banks in North America, is proud to announce the expansion of the San Diego sales team with the addition of Mark Hawblitzel as the National Load Bank Sales Manager, and Serafin Gutierrez Jr. as the Advanced Load Bank Project Manager.

Hawblitzel comes to HPS Loadbanks with extensive Nationwide Sales and Rental experience in the industrial sector. He has a proven track record to ensure that HPS provides unmatched support after the sale, offering 24-hour technical assistance, training, repair quotes, and electronic upgrades. He will manage the daily customer service inquiries from before the sale to after to make sure all of our customers' needs are met and exceeded.

Gutierrez's knowledge of AC and DC load banks in the medium and high voltage Utility and Renewable Energy sectors, in addition to his cogeneration, data center, and Power Plant commissioning expertise, has made him an invaluable asset to the team. His experience throughout North America, with previous projects exceeding 50MW, ensures that HPS provides the best support in the business before/during/and after a rental project, offering our customers 24-hour technical assistance and training. For customers who own Crestchic Load Banks, Gutierrez can quote repairs and electronic upgrades as well.

"Adding Mark and Serafin to the HPS Loadbanks team has allowed us to assist more customers with their load bank needs than ever before," says Paul Karpf, Rental and Load Bank General Manager. "Their extensive industry knowledge, project expertise, and customer service experience make them a perfect fit as HPS Loadbanks continues to grow."
